I am excited to have Denise Lee Yohn is a brand-building expert, speaker, and prolific columnist who has worked with world-class brands ranging from Burger King, and Oakley, New Balance and more. Denise decided to examine some of the top brands from around the world and identify what separates them from the rest which she uncovers in her book, What Great Brands Do.

In this episode, Denise talks about the seven principles which great brands have and how can organizations embrace those principles. She also talks about how can companies differentiate from others and how is customer experience important for brands.

Learn

- What are the 7 principles that epitomize great brands?
- How do you get organizations to embrace these principles?
- How is brand as business approach different from the brand building?
- Favorite business book – Eating the big fish, Building the brand business
- If you would have focused on one thing in order when he had started his business, what would it be? – Build relationships
- What is your favorite online tool? – Twitter, Hootsuite
09:56 – Customer experience / Example
12:07 – New book: “Fusion”/03.2018
14:04 – TOP3

Key Links

Website: http://deniseleeyohn.com/
Email: mail [at] deniseleeyohn [dot] com

Twitter: @deniseleeyohn

Linkedin: Denise Yohn

Book:: What great brands do

Tools/Resources

http://deniseleeyohn.com/resources/

http://deniseleeyohn.com/business-keynote-speaker/

http://deniseleeyohn.com/brand-strategy-consulting/

SUBSCRIBE AND REVIEW

If you enjoyed listening to the podcast, then please support me with iTunes review. Click here to subscribe to iTunes and leave an honest review!

Join 40,000 subscribers and get access to
ROHIT'S LIBRARY OF RESOURCES FOR ENTREPRENEURS
Hell ya!

Powered by ConvertPlug™